THE TURKEY INDUSTRY.

At several Texas points the killing, dressing and shipping of turkeys is growing into a great industry. At Houston, for instance, two large plants are working overtime, preparing turkeys for shipment, and these birds, dressed, are sent in refrigerator cars to long distances. This is one reason the birds are scarce in the local market, and the prices high. At Houston 18 cents a pound is being paid for the birds.

Conditions are certainly favorable for the man who grows things for the market. For instance: Frying chickens are quoted at Houston at $3 and $4 a dozen; broilers, $2.25 and $2.75; hens, $4.50 to $5.50. Fresh eggs are selling at 28 and 30 cents, and are reported very scarce at that. Texas creamery butter is quoted at 34 and 35 cents; country butter, 18 to 20 cents. Fancy prices are being paid

NEVER TOUCHED IT.

The Waco Times-Herald makes this observation:

Perhaps the most amusing thing in the history of Texas publicity occurred in this city on Saturday last. The Texas Commercial Secretaries were in session, and they wanted to put something in the record anent the I. & G. N. bill. They had on their war paint—at least, some of them did. Certain resolutions were presented.

These resolutions didn't seem to meet the situation. A committee was appointed to report suitable resolutions, and here's where the thing gets funny—excruciatingly funny, if you please.

This committee made a report that simply marched the boys up the hill and then marched them down again. You can see them—Arnold and Wade and Huff and Dixon and their compatriots—under flaming banners going up the hill, and then you can see them coming down with that "Back from Moscow" looks that excites you to alternate tears and laughter.

For real, genuine, name-blown-in-the-bottle humor, this performance of the Texas Commercial Secretaries takes the bakery and the nearby distillery.

And the I. & G. N. bill, as it scampers off, can truthfully shout back—

"Never touched me."

THE HUMBLE PEANUT.

Twenty car loads of peanuts seem like a pretty good lot of nuts; and it is. Yet that is reported as the receipts of one day by the Texas Nut company of Denison. And these nuts came from Texas and Oklahoma points, bringing the growers a price of approximately $1 a bushel. It is reported the Texas-Nut company is prepared to invest $1,000,000 in peanuts this year. The company has at Denison one of the largest factories for working up these nuts to be found in the country.

The peanut crop is growing to be some crop, and hundreds of acres of Anderson county sandy soil is especially adapted to the growing of this nut.

The local merchant who liberally uses printers' ink hasn't much time to stand around and complain of what the mail order house is doing to him. It is the fellow who has not yet learned the advertising game who suffers, for the mail order house knows how to play it, and does play it to the limit. The way to get away with the mail order fellow is to beat him at his own game—advertise.

At the union Thanksgiving service tomorrow you will be given an opportunity to help the poor. And this is an ideal day for such work. Make the less fortunate ones about you happy, and thus gain happiness for yourself.

It will be a bitter pill when it comes, but it looks as if it is bound to come; and that is the United States will have to intervene in the Mexico trouble to protect and preserve Americans and American capital in Mexico.

Greenville claimed a population of 15,000, but the census gave it only 9000. Now those Greenvilleites are up in arms, and want the other 6000 accounted for.

GOOD WILD GOOSE STORY

Bird Was Killed at Long Lake Which Measured Eight Feet From Tip to Tip.

Dr. T. W. Smith and Mr. W. Y. Ballew spent yesterday at Long Lake and vicinity, hunting, and bagged a number of squirrels and some ducks.

Mr. Ballew tells this interesting story, and the joke is on them: When they had turned their way homeward, and while passing the lake, a mammoth goose was seen in the water. Both men saw the goose, and it was evident the goose saw the men, yet it made no attempt to fly. Then a debate ensued, while guns were cocked and poised, as to whether or not it was a wild goose or a tame goose. Finally, approaching nearer a chunk was thrown at it and it made no attempt to fly. Then Dr. Smith fired a shot into the water near it; and still it did not attempt to fly. That settled it; if it had been wild it evidently had been tamed. The men wended their way up to the Gaffney headquarters, and told the incident to Capt. Gaffney and his son. Why, no; there were no tame geese on the plantation; of course it was a wild goose, and one that must have been crippled. The younger Gaffney mounted a horse, borrowed one of the hunters' guns and went down to investigate. He found the goose, and killed it, and the bird was a beauty, weighing 16 1/2 pounds and measuring eight feet from tip to tip of wings.

Capt. Gaffney says several of the big fellows had lit at the lake, and some of the fatter ones seemed too exhausted from a long flight to rise from the water, and this was one of them. The others finally managed to escape in the brush. The Gaffneys are enjoying wild goose for dinner today, while the hunters are not yet through alternately laughing and berating their letting the bird escape them.

Mr. Ballew says it was the largest and heaviest wild goose he ever saw.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER.

Remains of White Man Found Near Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Texas, Nov. 21.—Constable J. W. Wiggins found the body of an unknown man in the Neches river, near where the river is crossed by the Texas & New Orleans railroad, twelve miles west of this place. Attention was first attracted by clothing on the bank, and after considerable search the body was discovered. In a purse found in the pocket of his clothing was a receipt issued by a watch and loan company of Muskogee, Okla., No. 681,597; also some tickets over an interurban railroad in Oklahoma and a portion of a ticket over some other lines of road. These tickets and paper appear to identify the man as Shepard, the initials varying from E. Shepard to E. C. Shepard and M. Shepard and in one instance Elmer Shepard. He wore a Stetson hat with the name of a Muskogee dealer.

The man appeared to be about 40 years of age, was fair complexioned, dark gray eyes, weighed about 150 pounds and had a scar on the left leg. So far he has not been identified. Justice of the Peace Duke held an inquest over the body.
